The British Columbia Cycling Coalition, and everyone who works to make B.C. a better place, lost a great friend and champion last year

We dedicate the BC Active Transportation Summit to its founder, Arno Schortinghuis.

Arno's gentle strength, his love of people and dedication to the planet continue to inspire us all.

Message from the Honourable Claire Trevena
Minister of Transportation and Infrastructure

As part of CleanBC, we are working in partnership with communities to improve active transportation infrastructure that connects the places where people live, work, learn and play. Transforming how we get around helps to reduce emissions and makes for cleaner and healthier communities. We are introducing a new active transportation strategy that will help us achieve a cleaner, healthier and more sustainable British Columbia.

Our government is focused on making communities more livable and building public infrastructure for the next generation – I appreciate your participation in this very important work.

Many thanks to the British Columbia Cycling Coalition for organizing this very successful BC Active Transportation Summit. Thank you to all the attendees, your efforts will help shape the future of active transportation in our province.

Sincerely,

Claire Trevena
Minister of Transportation and Infrastructure

Thank You to our sponsors

This program is funded by the Government of Canada and the Province of British Columbia.
